

Integrating Health and Housing: Sustainable Solutions through Systemic Change

What is the future for Connecticut and our nation? How can we move forward with sustainable healthcare and housing? Join us for a stimulating conversation of innovative ideas for system-level changes. Local and national leaders will discuss sustainable healthcare reform, with integration of housing. We will hear how financial investments, new approaches and partnerships, policy and healthcare reform are improving the equity of healthcare in states across the country.

Keynote Speaker:

Andy McMahon, Vice President
Policy/Health and Human Services at UnitedHealthcare Community and State

Andy is an expert in the fields of affordable supportive housing, healthcare, and human services. He has led federal policy and engagement with national stakeholders to expand investment and reform public policy. Previously, Andy was the Managing Director of Government Affairs and Innovations, and Vice President of Policy and External Affairs for the Corporation for Supportive Housing (CSH).
